The Bank's Ethical Codes underlying the social relationships and the Bank's Corporate Values (consist of reliability, freedom, fairness, respecting and certainty) set up a part of the Bank's Personnel Policy and Rules which are known by all Yapi Kredi Personnel.

With regards to these standards, Bank Compensation Policy's two basic principles which are beyond any arguments are;

- only the authorized employees can reach the detailed compensation information of the personnel
- and
- the compensation is assigned regardless of the religion, language, race, age, etc. of personnel.

The standards mentioned above compose the pillars which set the framework for a consistent and coherent design, implementation and monitoring of compensation practices across the entire organization. Within this common policy framework, guidelines are defined to implement compensation programs and plans that reinforce sound risk management policies and our long-term strategy.

4. Performance and Remuneration

4.1. Fixed Compensation and Base Salary

The fixed component of compensation remunerates the role covered and the scope of responsibilities, reflecting the experience and skills required for each position, as well as the level of excellence demonstrated and the overall quality of the contribution to business results. The relevance of fixed compensation weight within the overall package is such as to reduce the risk of excessively risk-oriented behaviors, to discourage initiatives focused on short-term results which might jeopardize mid and long term business sustainability and value creation.

4.2. Performance-Based Payments (Variable Compensation)

Incentives remunerate the achievement of performance objectives, both quantitative and qualitative, by providing for a variable bonus payment. The design features, including performance measures and pay mechanisms, avoids an excessive short-term focus by reflecting the principles of this policy, focusing on parameters linked to profitability and sound risk management, in order to guarantee sustainable performance in the medium and long term.

In order to support the design of employee remuneration and incentive systems, the following “compliance drivers” have been defined:

- Maintenance of an adequate ratio between the quantitative and the qualitative targets,
- Encouragement of customer-centered approach in target settings,
- Avoidance of incentives on a single product / financial instrument
- Avoidance of performance-based payments with excessively short time periods (timeframes less than once in three months are not suggested),
- Transparency in all rewarding system communications and the reporting phases that the final evaluation of the employee’s achievements will also be based on their compliance behavior considering internal and external rules and regulations.

4.3. Performance Payment Criteria

- The payments to be granted to the members of the Board of Directors, Senior Management and all other personnel are not associated only with short term performance of the Bank such as profit or revenue. Payments of members of committees consisting of members of the Board of Directors are set taking into consideration the responsibilities assumed by them. Such payments are in compliance with the ethical values, internal fairness and strategic targets of the Bank.
- Payments related to Bank’s performance is done to the members of Board of Directors and to Senior Management which have executive responsibilities considering that these incentive payments are regulated with respect to the objective criteria and these payments have positive effect on the corporate ethic codes of the Bank.

- The criteria related to job descriptions and the employee distribution and the performance-based incentive payments are determined and announced by the Senior Management to employees. Such criteria are reviewed on regular basis according to determined standards and specific job responsibilities.
- Performance-based payments are not guaranteed beforehand. Performance-based payments are made taking into consideration the maturity of risks taken and in installments.
- The incentive systems were designed in such a manner that sets minimum performance thresholds below which zero bonuses are paid. New contracts and agreements are prepared in line with this perspective.
- In performance-based payments, the personnel's preceding performance is considered.
- Indemnity payments made to personnel quitting the Bank are determined by also taking into consideration the past performance of the relevant personnel and the relevant personnel's contribution in the long term performance of the Bank.
- Regarding those who have been determined by the Board of Directors to have jeopardized the Bank in terms of its operation in a safe way or to be responsible for deterioration of financial structure of the Bank as a result of their activities, the necessary actions regarding their payments including annulment of their performance-based payments are established.
- Arrangements related to performance-based payment include zero bonuses in circumstances of non-compliant behavior or qualified disciplinary action.
- Incentive system also ensures the independence and autonomy of Audit, Control, Compliance and Risk Management in undertaking their control duties.
